RESPONSE TO NOTIFICATION OF NON-COMPLIANCE
WITH 37 C.F.R. §1.192(c)

Honorable Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks
Washington, D.C. 20231

Sir:

On March 10, 2000, the PTO mailed a paper entitled "Notification of Non-Compliance with 37 C.F.R. §1.192(c)". The examiner stated that the brief does not contain the items required under 37 C.F.R. §1.192(c) or the items are not under the proper heading or in the proper order, and that the brief does not comply with 37 C.F.R. §1.192(c)(3), (c)(4), or (c)(5). The examiner specifically stated that the brief does not disclose the status of claims 2-10 and 15-33, nor does it disclose the status of the amendments after final filed November 3, 1997, and March 31, 1998, and the section "Related Appeals and Interferences" does not refer to the interference proceeding involving parent application 07/930,443.

Attached hereto is a new complete brief in triplicate. The statement of the Status of Claims has been amended to refer to all of the cancelled claims, and the section on the Summary of the Invention now refers to the specification by page and line number.

As to the section "Related Appeals and Interferences", it is only necessary to refer to such a related appeal or interference if applicants believe that the related appeal or interference will directly affect or be directly affected by or have a bearing on the Board's decision in the pending appeal. While applicants do not believe that the interference involving the parent case satisfies this requirement, nevertheless, at the urging of the examiner, this section of the brief has been amended to refer to the interference involving the parent application.

It is not understood why the examiner checked the box in paragraph 1 of the notification form, as the brief does indeed contain all of the items required under 37 C.F.R. §1.192(c) and they appear under the proper headings and in the proper order. There is nothing in 37 C.F.R. §1.192 which states that applicant cannot add additional items under appropriate headings. As long as all of the items required by 37 C.F.R. §1.192(c) are present and in the order specified, 37 C.F.R. §1.192(c) has been fully complied with. See the discussion in the Notice of May 3, 1988, 1092 O.G. 26-35, relating to the rulemaking of this rule, where it states:

Two commenters expressed the concern that §1.192(c) does not permit the inclusion in a brief of any items other than the seven items specified. Other commenters suggested that other items be included, such as a list of the references, table of contents, table of cases, etc. It should be emphasized that §1.192(c) merely specifies the minimum requirements for a brief, and does not prohibit the inclusion of any other material which an appellant may consider necessary or desirable. A brief is in compliance with §1.192(c) as long as it includes items (1) to (7) in the order set forth (with the appendix, item (7), at the end).

As to the "Status of Amendments" section, it is urged that this section of 37 C.F.R. §1.192(c) only intends to refer to amendments filed after the most recent final rejection in the case, as it is only these claims where any ambiguity may arise as to their current status. There is no necessity for the Board to know what happened to amendments filed after previous final rejections which were subsequently withdrawn. Nevertheless, in order to obviate this requirement of the examiner, the Board has been given a full history of all amendments after final rejection throughout the prosecution history of this case.

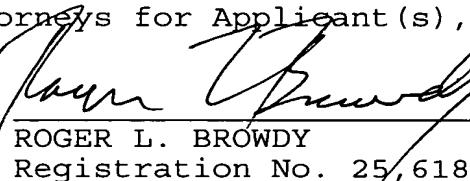

Accordingly, the attached revised brief now fully complies with 37 C.F.R. §1.192(c). Entry of this brief and action thereon is therefore earnestly solicited.

Respectfully submitted,
